2025 SUMMER CAMP SCHEDULE

Join the Pius XI Catholic High School community for Camp Pius XI: An experience where future Popes can explore their passions at a high school level! We welcome you to join us for two weeks of action-packed camp sessions, chosen by YOU for YOU!

At Pius XI, we know that each student has more than just one interest. That's why our school motto, Be More You, focuses on providing young minds with as many ways as possible to express themselves and explore who they want to become. The schedule and flexibility of Camp PXI allows students to spend their summer doing what they do best: creating, discovering, learning and growing.

Whether you spend your summer playing basketball on the courts with Hall-of-Famer Coach Scott Herrick, creating meaningful art with Pius's nationally recognized art teachers, developing your own Rube Goldberg machine alongside the members of our Pius XI Rube Goldberg team, or finding your voice as you take the stage in our Musical Theatre camp, we hope one thing will be true no matter what: You end the summer being More You!

Rooted in tradition, Pius XI Catholic High School had its beginnings in September 1929 under the direction of the Pallottine Fathers and the School Sisters of St. Francis. The founders taught in three improvised classrooms above the old St. Anthony of Padua Church.

In 1930, the building – which today serves as St. Vincent Pallotti grade school immediately to the North of Pius XI's present location – opened its doors to 35 students. When searching for the name of the new Catholic high school, it was only natural to think of Pope Pius XI, a scholar who championed the cause of Christian education and who had just celebrated his Golden Jubilee in the priesthood. Pius XI Catholic High School was founded to honor this great leader, and our sports teams are proud to be called the "Popes" in honor of the school's namesake ...

"What greater work is there than training the minds and forming the habits of the young."
